BACKGROUND

In 1975, a Christian movement was born in Cameroon, led by a 30-year old young PhD holder named Zacharias Tanee Fomum. He was radically committed to the Lord Jesus-Christ and to His cause. This young man later became a Professor in the field of Organic Chemistry at the University of Yaounde I.

For about thirty years, under the leadership of brother Zach, a group of youths and students, consecrated and radically committed to the Nazarene went shaking cities, universities, colleges and high schools in Cameroon and in 49 other nations in all the six continents. In this move, they saw 100 000 disciples won to the Lord Jesus-Christ in phase-1 of the goal entrusted to Christian Missionary Fellowship International (CMFI) by God.

After Professor Zacharias Tanee Fomum's entry into eternal bliss in 2009, Brother Theodore Andoseh, the next leader of CMFI, has since then continued in the footsteps of his predecessor. His burden is to empower and set ablaze youths and students in view of making them custodians of our vision to ensure the accomplishment of the goal by 2065.
